

CONSPIRATORIAL MATRIX

by

Seditious Intelligence

Chapter One

Welcome. If you were not already a Person Of Interest in the eyes of British or American Intelligence, you are now. As a minimum you have become a secondary Person Of Interest and a file on you will be created. Many people use phrases like, “Living off the grid”, in some fanciful glamorization of being under electronic surveillance or seeking to evade it, when the sensible thing to do is to calmly acclimatize to the reality of the situation and adjust accordingly.

If you have not read 1984 by George Orwell, you ought to remedy that situation immediately and read it in the knowledge that the original Title may have been, “21st Century State”, but he may have been unable to get it published under that Title. It was, as he clearly states on Page 1, his, “warning to the unborn”. He was describing his future, our present, if you have read it, you will be familiar with many aspects of his warning. Telescreens that cannot be switched off, (modern televisions can be placed on Standby but cannot be powered off unless disconnected from the power supply), Telescreens that can watch you, and listen to you, (think along the lines of a miniaturised digital camera located in the infrared remote control sensor, preventing it from being obscured because when it is the remote control won't work, and a microphone hidden inside one of the speakers or inside a pin hole).

Obviously, all Smart TVs are connected to the internet, so can easily be hacked into by British or American Intelligence and used as surveillance devices inside the homes of any citizens who become Persons Of Interest. Needless to say, all PCs, Laptops, Tablets and Smartphones contain cameras and microphones that can just as easily be hacked into and activated.

If you are not yet familiar with the Echelon program, familiarise yourself with it. It is run by the Five Eyes Intelligence Alliance, (United Kingdom, United States, Canada, Australia and New Zealand), to intercept and analyse all forms of electronic communication worldwide. The GPS location facility in your Smartphone tracks your position and your movements, and when coupled with the location data from other Smartphones, your associations.

Irrespective of your prior activity, the action of visiting my website and purchasing my eBook has brought you to their attention, your purchase was recorded, and your activity is now being monitored. Electronic surveillance is ubiquitous in the 21st Century State, so ought to be no cause for alarm, it is important to understand what kinds of behaviour are considered to be undesirable, and what kinds of behaviour are considered to be dangerous. The acquisition of knowledge is not an issue, even if the knowledge is pertaining to information they would not want to spread, the issue they have is with the spread of the information. Surveillance is used for the purpose of monitoring and minimising the spread, with punishment, or persecution, only deemed necessary in the event of sensitive information being disseminated. If your eyes are open but your mouth is closed, you are not a threat.

In 1984, the music piped into your home at a volume level intended to make you go out of your mind is deafeningly loud, in reality it is barely audible, so that you question where it is coming from, or whether or not you can even genuinely hear it at all. In 1984, the torture by electrocution of seditious enemies of the State is in the literal, old fashioned style, whereas in reality it is through your television and other devices, a high-pitched electronic sound designed to elicit a deafening ringing sound in your ears, like severe tinnitus. In 1984, when the Telescreen talks to you, it is overt and direct, in reality it is covert, subtle and indirect, such as the presenter of a programme you regularly watch making a comment incongruous with the rest of the programme but relevant to you. Much of this is intended to make you, or anyone you confide in, question your sanity. If you have already experienced any of this, or suspect that you have, rest assured, it is real, it is not your imagination, and you are not insane. Whilst that might offer some comfort, it also must be said that they do not target people in that way for no reason, you must have transgressed in some way, most likely by spreading information they consider to be dangerous, which is generally information regarding their activities. Naïve citizens believe that if electronic surveillance is taking place, they are surveilling an enemy. In reality, their only genuine enemy is an internal one, a seditious enemy of the State, someone who knows about their activities and is spreading that information, the stereotypical external threat is largely fictitious, that is not the enemy, the enemy is you.

I will seek to always remain succinct and to the point, with the focus on quality, not quantity. One thing I shall strive to do wherever possible is signpost you in the direction of other material, that will either lend credibility to the things I am saying or provide extensive elaboration to further expand your knowledge. You should familiarise yourself with the revelations of Edward Snowden in 2013, watching the Hollywood biopic on exactly who he was and what he did is advisable. This will help you to avail yourself of the understanding that digital surveillance of ordinary individual citizens is not fiction, or a theory, it is fact.

The phrase, “Conspiracy Theory”, was literally invented in anticipation of it being required to discredit the spread of dangerous information about events that had been planned for decades and would soon be happening. A “Conspiracy Theorist” is someone spreading dangerous information. Unfortunately, as a counter-intelligence measure, the people who created the phrase, “Conspiracy Theory”, also created some “Conspiracy Theorists”, to act as Controlled Opposition, being fed accurate, detailed information regarding the events in question, whilst simultaneously being directed to combine it with false information about fringe nonsensical subjects. The thinking being, we live in an era where keeping secrets is impossible, so let's control the release of the information, monitor those receiving it by monitoring the following of the “Conspiracy Theorists” we created, and seek to discredit the followers by having them believe in fringe nonsense, that way, nobody will take them seriously when they speak to their friends, family or colleagues about real world events, despite the fact that the information they are spreading about the real world events is completely accurate. You will be immediately able to think of at least one Controlled Opposition “Conspiracy Theorist”, I shall not name them here, for fear of potential legal ramifications and to avoid a burden of proof. A good way to identify whether or not a particular person is Controlled Opposition is to ask yourself, does this person receive a surprisingly large amount of airtime in the mainstream media, considering the nature of what is being said? If the answer is yes, and you would expect such views to be completely suppressed rather than given mainstream exposure, that person is Controlled Opposition. This does not mean they should be disregarded, on the contrary, they will be fed information on real world events by those responsible, which is why their information is so detailed and accurate, it simply requires you to be able to discern for yourself between real world truth and fringe nonsensical distraction.

By now you might be wondering if I am Controlled Opposition, I am not, although the distinction is actually irrelevant. Controlled Opposition seeks to acquire a following, so that the followers can then be easily identified. By following me, you have been very easily identified, whether or not this was my intended purpose is not actually of any importance, the net result is identical. If I could reach you without making you easily identifiable, I would, but that is not possible. Another element of George Orwell's warning was the governments of the United Kingdom and the United States routinely engaging in false flag terrorism, although that phrase is never actually used in the book. You ought to be familiar with Operation Northwoods, if that is not already the case, rectify that immediately. Without that familiarity, an understanding of geopolitical events is not possible, but armed with that familiarity, reading between the lines of the television news becomes possible.

Chapter Two

“The revolution will be televised”. An exciting idea, a very modern idea, and a concept that seems logical in the present day. Unfortunately, there will be no revolution. In fact, the major revolutions you may have been taught about by the education system were not actually revolutions, they were coups d’etat, as elucidated by the great American industrialist, Henry Ford. The Ford Motor Company is headquartered in Henry Ford’s hometown, Dearborn, Michigan. In 1918, The Dearborn Independent, a local newspaper, was purchased by the Dearborn Publishing Company, a vehicle created and owned by Henry Ford to facilitate the acquisition and distribution of the newspaper, which subsequently achieved national readership through being promoted in Ford dealerships all over the country, within which subscriptions could be purchased, in addition to the paper being nationally available at newsstands, largely at Henry Ford’s expense.

From January 1919 until its closure in 1927, The Dearborn Independent published a series of articles by Henry Ford, in which he discussed The French Revolution, The Russian Revolution, Zionism, Industry, Politics, the Press, and other geopolitical topics. The articles published from 1919 to 1921 were compiled into book form, and published under the title, “The International Jew”, currently available through Filiquarian Publishing, which provides an analysis of the political movement known as Zionism, its goals and its methods. Articles published after 1921 were never added to the book, which therefore ends abruptly, but are held by several libraries in their original form in the United States, listed on the Library of Congress website, due to the historical significance of the articles. Absent the ability to visit one of the aforementioned libraries in person, to read all of the published articles in full, a reading of the book would be sufficient to engender enthusiasm to secure a copy of the document often quoted, described and commented on in the articles, “The Protocols”, currently available through Aristeus Books.

The Protocols should be judged by the reader independently, on the basis of one simple question: Can I see evidence of what was planned in The Protocols all around me in the world I live in today? If the answer is no, the text can be seen to have no importance. If the answer is yes, the plans were successfully enacted and the desired outcomes materialised. Contained within The Protocols is not just the plans, but the methodology, imbuing the reader with an understanding of not just what was achieved, but precisely how it was achieved, as well as future stages of the plans not yet brought to manifestation. Anyone inclined to be captivated by the prophecies of such figures as Nostradamus cannot fail to find enormously magnified fascination in a text purporting to outline plans for global domination, coupled with what the outcome will look like, together with a detailed roadmap of how to get there. As you witness developments unfolding around you, it can leave you feeling psychic, as though you had already witnessed them in a premonition, even though you know very well that you did not.
